

NCDCA Leadership Institute
Course #3: Leadership Skills for Community Development
Professionals
February 2025
Pre-Conference Course at NCDCA's 2025 Legislative Conference

Course Overview

Join us for NCDCA's Leadership Institute, a four-course interactive training for new and experienced supervisors and managers in the community development field. Courses include: 1) Team Building, 2) Management, 3) Leadership, and 4) Communication.

This third course in the series focuses on building leadership skills. Course content is designed with specific examples directly applicable to managing CDBG and HOME programs. Peer-to-peer networking will be invaluable as participants work through issues related to the following learning objectives (see course agenda on the following page):

1. Identify personal leadership style and how to minimize weaknesses, overcome blind spots, and maximize strengths.
2. Evaluate leadership effectiveness and recognize the impact of emotional intelligence on leadership.
3. Explore the emotional and interpersonal dynamics of the competing values framework: Compete, Control, Collaborate, Create as it applies to effective leadership.
4. Develop strategies to proactively enhance team motivation and well-being by fostering a positive and supportive work environment.
5. Develop skills in providing constructive feedback and recognition, enhancing coaching and mentoring skills.
6. Explore strategies to guide teams through change, addressing potential challenges and opportunities.
7. Discover techniques to foster team resilience and creativity.
8. Identify opportunities to develop a pipeline for leadership development and succession planning.

Melissa Pond and Sheryl Kenny are the course instructors. Melissa has over 15 years of experience in Community Development, most recently with the City of Quincy, Massachusetts. An entrepreneur, seasoned consultant, and educator, she holds a master's degree from Northeastern University. Sheryl Kenny has over 30 years of experience in community development in Tarrant County and the City of Arlington, Texas. She is an experienced NCDCA trainer and former president of NCDCA, and she holds a master's degree from Cornell University.
